Educational and Interesting.

"All is Vanity."

The vanity of human life is like a river, constantly passing away and yet constantly coming on.—Pope.

And Most People Want Butter.
Honest bread is very well—it's the butter that makes the temptation.—Douglas Jerrold.

Aids to Virtue.

The two great aids to virtue are a jail and the knowledge that the neighbors are watching.—Baltimore Sun.

Forgiveness.

A deaf and dumb person being asked, "What is forgiveness?" took a pencil and wrote a reply, containing both poetry and deep truth embodied in these few words: "It is the odor which flowers yield when trampled upon."—Toronto Globe.

Moral Sentiment First.

Science necessitates a faith commensurate with the grander orbits and universal laws which it discloses. Yet it does not surprise the moral sentiment. That was older, and awaited expectant these larger insights.—Emerson.

Isn't Nature Wonderful.

It is said that the coconut palm will supply about every physical need of man—food, drink, shelter, fuel, utensils and if need be, clothes. A South American proverb runs, "A coconut tree is a bride's dowry."—Boston Transcript.

Crab Shell Barometer.

The Araucarians of the southernmost province of Chile use a crab shell as a barometer. In dry, fair weather it is white, but when rain is approaching, red spots appear on it, and when excessive moisture is present in the atmosphere, it becomes red all over.

"The Lost Cause."

This phrase first became current as the title of a history of the Civil war by E. A. Pollard, published in 1886. It was used as an expressive designation for the purposes and aims which the southern people vainly sought to realize in the permanent establishment of the Confederate States of America.

The Final Goal.

Oh, yet we trust that, somehow, good will be the final goal of ill, that nothing walks with airless feet, that not one life shall be destroyed, or cast as rubbish to the void, when God has made the pile complete.—Tennison.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE OF LAND

GARRARD CIRCUIT COURT
Prentiss Walker, et al., Plaintiffs,
Vs.
(Consolidated Cases)
Henry Teater, et al., Defendants.

By virtue of and pursuant to a judgment of the Garrard Circuit Court rendered in the above styled cases at the August Term 1922, directing me to sell the real estate hereinafter described, I, W. H. Brown, Master Commissioner of the Garrard Circuit Court, will, on MONDAY, NOVEMBER 27th, 1922 at 11 o'clock A. M. or thereabout, in front of the Court House, door in Lancaster, Ky., sell to the highest and best bidder at public auction, now owned by Henry Teater and Jesse Lunsford and lying and being in Garrard County, Kentucky, on Wolf's Trail road and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

That tract of land lying and being in Garrard County, Kentucky, on the Kentucky River and near the Wolf Trail road, more particularly bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point in the right hand fork of Lick Branch, corner to Blake-man; thence down said Branch, N. 34. E. 23 poles; N. 5. E. 16 poles; N. 4. W. 14 poles; N. 7. E. 20 poles; N. 4. E. 16 poles to a corner near the mouth of another branch; and down the same with the general course of said branch, N. 56. W. 91 poles to a sycamore at the mouth of said branch on Kentucky River; thence down the Kentucky River with the meanders thereof, S. 28. W. 40 poles; S. 52. W. 39 poles passing a sycamore tree on the bank of said river at 18 poles in all 39 poles to a point on the bank of said river at low water mark; S. 73. W. 40 poles; S. 80. W. 32 poles; S. 78. W. 20 poles; S. 68. W. 14 poles; S. 64. W. 13 poles; S. 64. W. 16 poles; S. 67. W. 17 poles to a sycamore on the bank of said river at the mouth of Halfway Branch, corner to Broadus; thence leaving the river and up Halfway Branch with its meanders, S. 65. E. 40 poles; S. 64. E. 20 poles; S. 81. E. 21 poles to a point in the line of Murphy and corner to the tract sold by Henry Teater to U. G. Raines; thence leaving said branch and with the lines of said Raines to the beginning as follows: N. 29. E. 31.28 poles; S. 89. E. 22.8 poles; N. 85. E. 22 poles; S. 33. E. 28 poles; S. 80. E. 22 poles; N. 52. E. 12 poles to the west side of passway leading to Wolf Trail Road; thence crossing said passway, S. 87. E. 46 poles; S. 70. E. 8 poles; S. 77. E. 22 poles to the beginning, containing One Hundred and Three and 93-100 acres, (103.93 A.) and there is appurtenant to said tract and constituting a part of same a passway leading therefrom to the Wolf Trail Road, which is twelve feet wide, the middle line of which is described as follows: Beginning at a point in the Wolf Trail Road, thence leaving said road and running through the lands of U. G. Raines, and along the ridge between the waters of Lick Branch and Halfway Branch, N. 8. W. 16 poles; N. 11. W. 14 poles; N. 23. W. 10 poles; N. 9. W. 14 poles; N. 16. W. 10 poles; N. 13. W. 13.02 poles; N. 13. E. 44 poles to a point in the line of the above described tract; said above described tract of land and passway being the same land conveyed by Mary E. Fain, etc., to Henry Teater, by deed dated March 28, 1905, recorded in the Garrard County Clerk's Office in Deed Book No. 26, page 450, so much thereof as was by Henry Teater, etc., conveyed to U. G. Raines by deed Dec. 30, 1912 recorded in said Clerk's Office in Deed Book 29, page 373, the above described passway being reserved by said Teater in said last named deed.

Said sale will be made upon a credit of six and twelve months, the purchaser or purchasers being required to execute bonds for equal amounts due in six and twelve months after the day of sale, payable to said Master Commissioner and bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from day of sale until paid, said bond to have the force and effect of a judgment and to be and remain a prior lien upon the property until paid off.

The purpose of this sale is to settle and pay off lien debts adjudged against the above described real estate by said judgment amounting to approximately $4,500.00, as follows:

Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., $2,000, with interest at 6 per cent from Aug. 1, 1922; Prentiss Walker $350, with interest at 6 per cent from Nov. 29, 1918; J. E. Robinson $50, with interest at 6 per cent from Nov. 29, 1918; R. H. Tomlinson $200, with interest at 6 per cent from March 12, 1919; Farmers Exchange Bank of Nicholasville, Ky., $666.66 with interest at 6 per cent from Aug. 5, 1921 subject to a credit of $315.40 paid Jan. 11, 1922; G. L. Knight $1,333.34 with interest at 6 per cent from Aug. 5, 1921; and the costs of these actions.

Love Handed Down

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Mother, I've got such a piece of news for you!" Kitty Blaine, who had arrived home for her two weeks' vacation three minutes before, stood facing her pretty mother in the doorway of their home. "You remember that Mr. Croft, who used to be a bean of yours, that you gave me a letter to? Well, he wants to marry me!"

Mrs. Blaine looked at her daughter with a little sense of shock. It seemed only yesterday that Eddie Croft and she had strolled under those same apple trees, accepted lovers. Then had come the quarrel about a trifle, they had drifted apart, and had heard nothing of each other for years.

It was only a few months before that they had again come into touch by one of those little coincidences that seem so strange, yet are so common. Eddie Croft had answered a letter of Edna Blaine's addressed to the corporation which he served, regarding a position for her daughter, and had promised to do his best for her.

"And have you accepted him, dear?" the mother asked.

"Yes, of course," answered Kitty promptly. "Why, don't you know he's Mr. Roger's right hand man in the corporation? He must be as rich as Croesus. And he told me—Kitty giggled—"that he hadn't married all these years because he never met any one he cared for as he did you, until he saw me, and that I was your very image at twenty."

"And you care for him, Kitty?" The mother put her hands on the girl's shoulders and looked at her anxiously. "Care for him?" Kitty wrinkled her pretty brows and laughed. "Well, I suppose it's possible to care for any one if you make up your mind to, isn't it?" she answered. "Of course, he's forty-eight."

Edna Blaine sighed. Girls were different from what they had been in her young days. Then love was everything—now it was money that counted. They wanted a good time from the start. She felt a pang for Kitty, and then another for Eddie—perhaps one for the past as well.

"And he's coming down on Saturday to tell you about it," Kitty said.

Edna Blaine sighed again. Somehow she did not quite feel like seeing Eddie after all those years. And her heart was troubled for both of them.

What sort of wife would Kitty make for Eddie—Kitty, irresponsible, feather-headed, and again renewing her long-standing flirtation with Jim Baker, who lived at the end of the street, and was in the bank?

"Mother, Jim's promised to take me out in his car tomorrow."

"My dear, do you think it quite right for you to go about with Jim, under the circumstances?"

"Oh, my dear mother, do please remember that this is the twentieth century and not the nineteenth," said Kitty.

Edna Blaine felt lost and bewildered. Especially on the Saturday afternoon, when Eddie came down, and Kitty was away—with Jim, she suspected. The sight of Eddie was a shock, too. They walked up from the station together, and she would not have known him in the bronzed, stalwart man who strode beside her, radiating protection somehow; she could hardly keep from crying.

"Well, Edna?" Then, as he faced her inside the house the tears did come. It was awkward; but not so awkward as when Kitty returned. It was a very mournful evening, and Edna saw Eddie glancing from her to Kitty in a puzzled way.

He was staying over Sunday, and Edna gasped when Kitty calmly pleaded an appointment for the afternoon.

"You see, I didn't know you were staying over," she explained.

Eddie took Edna for a country walk. The spell of the past was upon both of them, they were very silent as they turned homeward in the evening.

"I hope you and Kitty will be happy, Eddie," said Edna softly.

He did not answer, and she dared not look at his face.

Suddenly they heard voices in the darkness on the other side of the elms that bordered the road.

"But, Jim, I—you mustn't. You know I'm engaged."

"Do you love him, Kitty? If you don't, you're sinning against your better nature in marrying him. Do you love him? Answer me!"

"No!" came the almost inaudible whisper. "It's always been you, Jim."

The voices died away. There was the faint sound of pacing footsteps—lovers' footsteps. Eddie turned to Edna.

"And it's always been you, Edna," he said. "It was the part of you I saw in her. Now it's yours forever."

Mother Didn't Reply.

Bobby, four years old, accompanied his mother to a woman's club meeting one afternoon, where the women, very tastefully gowned, hatted and veiled, discussed the affairs of their organization for two hours. On the way home Bobby said: "Mother, why don't you buy a veil and cover up your face and look pretty?"

Force of Bad Example.

F. P. A. started it and now he's got us doing it. Perpend! "Alack!" sighed the liquor-luker with a lack of lucer, "I haven't a lick o' liquor in my locker."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a turn; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Write for valuable free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important information, which every expectant mother should have, and all good Mothers Friend to Mothers Friend Company, B.A. 21, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

MANSE

The meeting closed at Manse last Sunday night with twenty-six additions to the church.

A large crowd attended a basketball game at Manse, which was played between the Manse boys and Preachersville team. The score was 6 to 5, in favor of Manse.

Supt. J. R. Abner visited the Manse School last Friday and inspected the work being done by the grade teachers, and we are glad to say he seemed very much pleased.

A very interesting basketball game was played between the Preachersville girls' team and Manse team, last Saturday afternoon. The score was 10 to 6 in favor of Manse team.

Manse foot ball and basketball teams played two very interesting and close games with Wood's View last Friday afternoon. Throughout the games a splendid spirit was shown by both schools.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tudor attended the Wood's View Parent-Teacher's Association last Friday night. It was a splendid meeting and was thoroughly enjoyed by all, especially the ice cream, which was served at the close and brought into the treasury nearly $5.00.

The Manse Parent-Teacher's Association met at Mrs. Annie Anderson's home last Saturday for all day meeting with an attendance of fourteen. Among the business items discussed were an oyster supper and a circus. The oyster supper will be given Nov. 7th, and the circus Nov. 16th. The circus will be held in the Manse Garage instead of the Paint Lick Garage.

as stated in last week's paper. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Zack Hester on the first Saturday in December. All members are asked to bring their silk quilt squares and their other quilt squares. The topic for discussion will be "The School Lunch and Clothing for the School Girl."

Mr. Frank Ray and son, James S. visited Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Preston, near Danville recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Ray and little daughter, Charlotte A. spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder and little daughter, Allie B., and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. ay spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Ray.

Noise and Production.

Men and bees are much alike. They give up a mighty small quantity of honey in proportion to the amount of noise they make.

With That Proviso.

It gives a man a great deal of happiness to witness the pleasure of others—when his profits amount to at least 10 per cent.

An Early Start.

Good Way of Looking at It.

If the weather doesn't happen to be good for my work today, it's good for some other man's, and will come round to me tomorrow.—Dickens.

Looking Death in the Face.

Death does not frighten me now. I think it is like taking chloroform; don't struggle against it, hold the hand of a friend, and it is not half bad with its promise of rest for me and heaven for you.—From "Words in Pain," letters written by a dying Englishwoman to her doctor.

Tribe of Indians Marquette Met.

The first reference to the Missouri tribe of Indians made by a European was by Marquette in a letter written in 1670 to La Mercier, his father superior, as Indians "who use canoes of wood." On Marquette's map appears the name and location of the "Ou Messaure."

Wild Cinnamon.

Although the cultivation of cinnamon in Indo-China is increasing, most of the product comes from the wild shrub. When a native discovers a cinnamon tree he must make a declaration before the local administration.

Ancient Culinary Ideas.

Some of the early ideas of delicacies would not appeal to the modern taste, nor would such methods as some Roman cooks applied to the red mullet, which was cooked while alive in a glass vessel on the table.

Too Late.

A French scientist says that in order to attain a ripe old age it is necessary to sleep in a due north and south position. We may die young but we'll keep right on sleeping on our right side, all curled up with our knees under our chin. It's too late for us to start now worrying whether or not we're pointed north.

Early Dabblers in Dentistry.

The first physician to speak of treating the teeth is Galen (131-200 A. D.). The science of dentistry, however, may be said to date from 1830, when Prof. Richard Newton pointed out "the organic connection between the vascular and the vital soft parts of the frame and the hard substance of the teeth." His work appeared in 1840-1845.

Needed at Home.

Little four-year-old Gerald lives next door to a woman who owns a big Scotch collie. The dog's name is Prince. One day, Gerald, hearing his neighbor call Prince, helped her look for the dog, but was unable to find him. An hour later Gerald saw Prince. Running to the dog he cried: "Go home, Prince, 'cause your mamma wants you."

Grand Agricultural and Dairy Meeting Saturday, Nov 18, 1922

IN GOODWIN THEATRE BUILDING, CRAB ORCHARD, KENTUCKY, THERE WILL BE FOUR PROMINENT SPEAKERS FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY, COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE, EXTENSION DIVISION, PRESENT AT THIS ALL-DAY MEETING STARTING AT 9:30 A. M. AND CLOSING AT 4:00 P. M.

We have secured PROF. WAYLAND RHODES, Extension Specialist, Beef, Cattle and better feeding. He will also include silos and ensilage in the addresses he will deliver.

PROF. GRADY SELLARDS, Swine Extension Specialist, who will give a demonstration of scientific meat cutting also will fully explain the latest methods of home curing of meats.

PROF. J. HOLMES MARTIN, Head of the Poultry Department, will bring to you valuable information along the lines of breeds of poultry, better housing, how to cull poultry, feeding for eggs, and many other subjects of vital importance to all that are keeping poultry.

PROF. J. J. HOOPER, Head of the Dairy Department, and considered one of the best beef and dairy cattle judges in Kentucky will be present with an address on different types of dairy cows and at the close of his address we will have different types of cows near the hall that will be judged by Prof. Hooper and will give all present a better understanding of the different types of cows and how to select the best types. We cannot for lack of space go into detail as to the type of men we are bringing to you, but if you will be present you will be convinced that we could not have found better men on these different subjects. We trust that every one for miles around Crab Orchard will come to the all-day meeting. Representatives of Swift and Company of Lexington, Ky., will also be present.

You will be repaid for your efforts in coming to a scientific meat cutting demonstration which will be given.

It is desired that every school that can be present come. You are interested in every subject that will be discussed. If there are other communities that would like to have us arrange a meeting of this kind for you be at Crab Orchard and we will be only too glad to go over the matter with you. The arrangements for this meeting and the obtaining of these noted speakers was thru Swift & Company of Lexington, Ky., by their Solicitor, W. L. Thomas whom many of you have already met and we want every one to come to this meeting if you possibly can and feel sure you will enjoy every moment of the time.

DON'T FORGET THE DATE, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 1922.
